

Star field

(Sterretjesveld)

The Star Field at Akendam Cemetery in Haarlem is a place of remembrance for the very smallest. Here, ashes are scattered anonymously.

A memorial tree stands in the field. Colored leaves hang from the tree, symbolizing all pregnancies whose ashes have been scattered at the Star Field after collective cremation via Abortion Care Europe.

You may visit the Star Field at any time to reflect and remember your child.

Choosing a collective cremation?

It is not possible to attend the cremation or the scattering of the ashes.

However, you may visit the Star Field at a time that feels right for you to remember your child.

Choosing an individual cremation?

You can say goodbye to your child in the family room of the crematorium. Your child will be placed in a closed coffin. Due to the nature of the termination, it is not possible to see your child.

It is not possible to attend the cremation or the scattering.

You may choose to take the ashes home. From one day after the cremation, you can collect the ashes by appointment.

Although the cremation is carried out with great care, it cannot be guaranteed in advance that ashes will remain.

After an individual cremation, you are always welcome to visit the Star Field to remember your child.

Children's Field

Choosing an individual burial?

If you choose an individual burial, you will receive further information via a funeral director. You may choose to bury your child in the Children's Field at the municipal cemetery Akendam in Haarlem. There is also a Children's Field in the Islamic section of the cemetery.

You may also choose to take your child with you and arrange a burial at a place of your own choosing.

If you choose an individual burial via a funeral director, we kindly ask you not to have your child transported in a hearse, as this may be distressing for other visitors.

Additional information

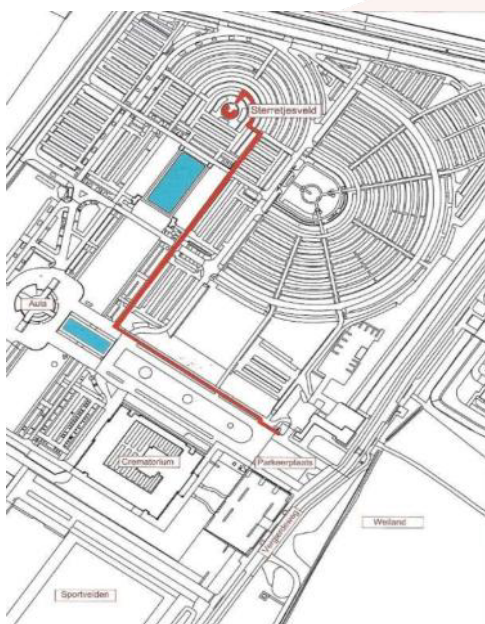

If you choose an individual cremation or burial, small wooden (birch) coffins are available at Abortion Care Europe at cost price.
